

Vulnerability Management as a Service (VMaaS)

Helping organizations reduce their security debt

Overview

Ivanti's Vulnerability Management as a Service (VMaaS) provides vulnerability scanning, integrated threat contextualization, business criticality and risk escalation for exposures and threats actively trending in the wild. Our security experts perform full-stack scanning from infrastructure to web applications and help organizations to quickly identify and prioritize vulnerabilities based on weaponization. Ivanti will become your extended security force and will work with your team to improve your organization's security posture and brand reputation and to reduce your security debt.

The challenge

Most businesses lack the resources to do continuous threat analysis and vulnerability identification while managing complex IT security environments in a rapidly changing security landscape. High volumes of emerging threats, security patches and new remediation guidelines are overwhelming for organizations and their impact is paramount. A mature vulnerability management solution helps to remediate organizational risks while aligning with regulatory and policy compliance, vendor support life cycles, data integrity and business-critical application vulnerabilities, strengthening the organization's cyber hygiene.

Our methodology

Ivanti identifies security vulnerabilities and helps improve your security posture and compliance.

Here is our methodology:

Key benefits

Dedicated expertise

Get a broader view of your organization's defense mechanisms.

A secure environment

We focus on your security to help improve your productivity. All vulnerabilities are mapped to known threats and prioritized by criticality, exploits and impact.

Cost-effective security

Save on FTE costs, resources, tools and license costs.

Improved security posture

Boost your security potential and reduce your security debt.

Actionable insights

Get actionable intelligence, metrics and reports.

Tailored process

Tailor the VMaaS process based on your business needs and the unique threats that you face.

Structured remediation

We provide you with structured, easy-to-understand remediation plans layered with scans and rescans for a faster remediation.

Stay informed

We help you understand the attacker's perspective to find what vulnerabilities attract them the most. We also proactively help you neutralize threats as they emerge and keep you ahead of threat actors.
